The Indian Trial Outcome

The Indian Trial started when an Indian murdered a trapper from a settlement. The witnesses that were called up helped to prove the Indian guilty and he is scheduled to hang tomorrow.

By Tom Petir

This trial was a hard fought battle, but the Indian lost the trial. He is scheduled to be hung tomorrow. The jury had all said he was guilty. I asked a citizen for his input, and he said, "That savage is guilty as guilty is." The witnesses proved that this savage killed one of the trappers from their settlement. Blacksmith Nichols proved that the hatchet used to kill the trapper was the savage's. The judge made the trial fair for the Indian which angered others. I asked Major Carver for his input, and he said, "That Indian deserved to be hanged because he killed one of my fellows." Read more on this on page 2
